CHINESE MAKE NEW ATTACK ON EUROPEANS!

COUNTY SEEKS FINES FROM CITY COURT

Increase In Tax Rate To Result Should Demands Be Carried Out

Glendale's tax rate will be raised approximately 4 cents per $100 of valuation, and Burbank's tax levy will be increased almost double that amount if demands to be made on the municipalities by Los Angeles county within the next few days are heeded.

There is some doubt as to the jurisdiction of the county and state authorities over certain fines collected in Glendale, but Burbank, a city of the sixth class, will be forced to turn over all funds collected in this manner. A recent ruling of the state supreme court requires all fines for state law violations be turned over to the county treasurer, to be sent by him to the state treasurer.

Glendale operates under a charter, has its own police court and a city ordinance that incorporates all of the provisions of the Wright act. Between $1000 and $1500 is collected monthly in Wright act fines alone. Loss of that revenue to the state would automatically require an additional tax levy to meet the budget demands.

Preparing Demands

County Counsel Edward T. Bishop today is preparing the formal demands to be served on all municipalities for money not turned in by them to the county treasury.

"We are not sure as yet just what Glendale's status is in this matter," said Bishop. "Personally, I am inclined to believe that, because Glendale operates under a charter and has its own police court in no way connected with the township justice court, that the city will be able to keep the fines collected for state law violations.

"However, it may develop that the supreme court opinion will hold good in all of the municipalities. In that event the county treasurer will be required to collect from Glendale fines obtained over a period of three months in the past, and to make regular collections of fines in the future.

Burbank to Lose

"Fines collected from violators of the California vehicle act may be retained by all municipalities, to be placed in the street improvement fund.

"In the case of Burbank, however, demand will be made immediately to turn over all fines collected in the past quarter, and in the future all Wright act fines must be given to the county treasurer. That is a city of the 6th class."

Glendale officials pointed out today that Burbank has had a greater revenue during the past year from Wright act fines than Glendale, and because of that fact the Burbank tax levy has been held lower than it could have been otherwise.

REPORTS FEATURED AT ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. A. R. Chappell, Treasurer, Informs Tuesday Afternoon Club Members Balance Is More Than $4000

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Proof of the happy success of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery's first year as president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and sound basis for predictions for greater accomplishment for the second year under her regime, may be found in the treasurer's report given at the annual meeting yesterday, showing a balance in the treasury of $4304.37, the largest balance remaining at the end of any year in the club's history.

These figures measure fully a well ordered club administration, reflecting harmonious co-operation of every unit of club activity. In them may be seen substantial reason for honors the club has won locally and in district and state federations.

Mrs. John C. Urquhart, junior past president of California Federation of Women's clubs, was honored guest yesterday, and in the afternoon installed officers-elect. She declared the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse to be one of the most, if not the most attract-

Glendale Elks' Band To Attend Conclave

Plans are well under way for the Glendale Elks' band to attend the national reunion this July at Portland, Ore. The convention is from July 11 to July 19.

It is probable that a special train will be chartered for the occasion, as not only the entire band but many members of the local Elks' lodge plan to make the journey to Portland.

After the convention in Oregon, J. J. Burke, C. M. Burke and John Becker, all band members, will go on to Seattle to meet with the Knights Templar, who will then be in session in the northern city. The three Glendale men plan to become members of the commandery band during the conclave.

MRS. W. E. EVANS IS HONORED AT MEETING

Glendalian Named First Vice-President Of Republican Women's Federation Of Southern California

California women are standing on the threshold of a new epoch in their political life, following the one-day convention yesterday in Los Angeles of the Republican Women's Federation of California, southern division, the first conclave of women in the nation for partisan politics. Success, marking every phase of the gathering, augurs brilliant development in the future.

Glendale participated in this historic-making event by having Mrs. W. E. Evans elected first vice-president of the new organization for Southern California. In addition to Mrs. Evans' active interest, Glendale was represented by Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, president of Glendale Republican Women's Study club; Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Mrs. Adelaide Munn, Miss Milligan, Mrs. Margaret M. Gale, Mrs. Emmons, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Frank C. Weller, Mrs. Grant Stewart, Mrs. W. S. Rattray, Mrs. George Neil and Baroness Otilly de Ropp.

Mrs. Evans' election as first vice-president of the organization came as a complete surprise to her. It is considered a great honor that a Glendale woman has been chosen for next to the highest office in the state organization.

Praises Mrs. Evans

Mrs. Evans, who it will be recalled, was appointed in January by Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, then temporary chairman at the preliminary meeting to yesterday's convention, to organize the Glendale club, won much praise yesterday for her enthusiasm for success of the organization. She served on the convention committees of arrangements, and constitution and by-laws. She also read telegrams from Governor Richardson, Herbert Hoover, and Senator Samuel Shortridge.

The entire list of officers elected for the Southern California Federation are: Mrs. Florence Collins Porter of South Pasadena, president; Mrs. W. E. Evans of Glendale, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles F. Vandewater of Long Beach, second vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Magauran of Los Angeles, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. A. Springstead of Van Nuys, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert F. Garner of San Bernardino, treasurer.

County chairmen, who will be ex-officio members of the board as vice-presidents are: Mrs. Joseph Winn, Los Angeles county; Mrs. O. C. Rogers, San Bernardino; Mrs. Cora B. Sifferd, Ventura; Mrs. A. J. Crookshank, Orange; Mrs. George Wing, Riverside; Mrs. Demis Adkins, Kern; Mrs. Dunham, San Diego; Mrs. M. C. Blanchard, Imperial; Mrs. D. F. Mahoney, San Luis Obispo; Mrs. George White, Santa Barbara.

Thousand Attend

The dominating theme of the convention was "Patriotism, Republicanism and Active Citizenship of All in a Representative Government." There were 1,000 women in attendance at the noon luncheon and hundreds were turned away.

A feature of the luncheon was a telegram from President Coolidge, to whom a toast was drunk standing at the beginning of the formal program.

The invocation was given by the Very Right Rev. William MacCormack and salute to the flag led by Mrs. W. W. Stilson, past state regent of the Daughter of American Revolution, and Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A.

Major Tuller Talks

Throughout the entire program emphasis was placed against the tendency to marked non-partisanship in women and an equally great appeal made for representative government by parties and the maintenance of the integrity of the constitution of the United States as the greatest instrument of government in the history of the world.

Major Walter K. Tuller, World War veteran, chief speaker of the day, spoke eloquently on "Political Parties, Their Necessity to Our Country." He said in part:

"Organized political parties are indispensable to free government in a country such as ours. Unless we have political parties with membership strong and cohesive representing fundamental policies, free government in this country will be impossible, and our institutions will certainly perish."

Outlines Purpose

Mrs. O. P. Clark, woman representative on the National Republican committee and president of the state Republican Women's federation, followed Major Tuller with these words:

"This is the whole purpose of our organization. We mean to study politics in the best sense. We plan an outline study of our constitution and the history of our party as related to the history of our country. We, in the south, the southern division, will work for our country and part in the southland, while the northern division, which will soon be organized, will work for the northern part of our state. Then when need arises the machinery is ready to work together and in harmony in a national campaign."

A large delegation from Northern California was present. Other speakers were Ralph Arnold, chairman of the Los Angeles County Central committee; Miss Nellie E. Kelley, organizer of the southern division; Mrs. G. Edward Winn; Hon. Frank F. Merriam, speaker of the California House; Mrs. George A. Rigg of Oakland; Mrs. Dorothy Lenroot Black of Berkeley; Major Buron Fitts; Lieut. Mendel B. Silberberg, who introduced Major Tuller. Musical numbers were given by Miss Josephine Dowler, Wynne Bullock, son of Judge Georgia Bullock; and Sidney Staes.

LEGION NOTES

An old-fashioned box social, one that will carry the older patrons back to the days of the little red schoolhouse and the literary meetings, will be held Saturday night at the Sparr Heights Community house. The event will be sponsored by Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, and the proceeds will be used to complete the new Legion clubhouse. Boxes will be auctioned off. There will be music and entertainment, with "Ole" Hanson, nut comedian, doing his stuff, according to R. B. Troutner, who is in charge of the affair. The fun will start at 8 o'clock.

Czechoslovakia's new national bank will have a loan of $50,000,000 provided by the government.

FESTIVAL YEAR STARTS IN GLENDALE

Spanish Costume Urged As Official Summer Dress For All Citizens

With California festival year activities in Glendale off to a good start following the appearance yesterday of fifty members of the Exchange club in Spanish costume, and school children wearing the Spanish regalia extensively, George F. Orgibet announced further plans for popularizing the dress idea today.

Under Orgibet, who heads the Chamber of Commerce Festival Year committee, speakers will appear before all civic organizations and clubs this week with an invitation to attend the Spanish costume dance and reception to be given in conjunction with the opening of Hotel Glendale on or about July 10.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have adopted the Spanish costume as official dress for the summer months. Everyone is urged to wear sash and sombrero at least. An appeal to women through the women's clubs to take a more active interest in the Festival Year program will be made by Orgibet's committee members.

Invited to Bay City

The Chamber of Commerce directors have been invited to participate in the big state-wide celebration at San Francisco, September 5 to 12. In a letter to the chamber Mayor Rolph of the northern city invites Glendale to participate officially in the observance. Glendale will probably be represented at the San Francisco celebration, President D. H. Smith said.

A resolution of appreciation of the work of the Exchange club and of Mrs. George U. Moyse and O. E. McDowell, members of the high school faculty, was unanimously voted by the chamber directors.

Hollywood Masons Are Guests Of Unity Lodge

Intolerance to blind us to the fact that other men are also sincere.

DISARMING GERMANY

The recent note from the Council of Ambassadors to Germany in regard to alleged infractions of the disarmament clause of the treaty of Versailles was not well received by Germany, although it was made clear in the note that the Cologne bridgehead was not evacuated last January because Germany had not lived up to the treaty. The allied governments charged defaults in the military clauses of the treaty, ordered the Reich to discharge the German general staff, to reduce the army to 100,000 men, to stop recruiting men on short service enlistments, to reduce the Green police to 150,000, to cease training millions of young men in patriotic societies, to cease training air pilots for military purposes, to stop gas warfare experiments, to dismantle a number of factories making munitions of war, all of which is in accordance with the treaty. Comments of German newspapers and spokesmen of the government in regard to the note are bitter and sarcastic.

We cannot but sympathize with France in her desire to have Germany comply with the terms of the Versailles treaty in the matter of disarmament. It is but fair to be lenient with Germany in giving her more time to make her reparations payments, to give her a greater voice in world affairs and to place her on an equality with other nations. But as the first condition upon which she is accepted into the council of nations she should be expected to comply absolutely with the disarmament provision of the treaty.

No nation, not even France, is going to attack Germany. She owes us all too much money. So when Germany insists upon retaining her arms we cannot blame France for accusing her of sinister motives. Germany has had plenty of time and opportunity to comply with the disarmament provisions of the treaty, and until she does comply she has no right to ask for consideration.

France may not have been entirely without fault in past wars; she may not be taking the right course now in her relations with other nations. Yet, we, here in our isolation and security, cannot realize what the French have suffered from two German invasions and we should not blame France for feeling insecure unless Germany is compelled to disarm.

FREE SPEECH

Back in 1901 Leon Czolgosz heard Emma Goldman speak, was fired by her doctrine that "all rulers should be exterminated," and assassinated President McKinley at the Buffalo exposition. As a result, the state of New York passed a criminal anarchy law which was invoked for the first time in the case of Benjamin Gitlow, recently candidate of the Workers' party for vice-president of the United States; and the supreme court has just rendered a decision upholding this law.

Gitlow had published a manifesto calling for a revolution. According to the court, this manifesto did not merely advocate abstract doctrine but urged specific mass action to overthrow and destroy organized parliamentary government.

There are some who claim that this law denies the right of free speech, but the majority decision of the court claims that freedom of speech and press does not protect disturbances to the public peace or the attempt to subvert the government. "That utterances inciting to the overthrow of the organized government by unlawful means present a sufficient danger of substantive evil to bring their punishment within the range of legislative discretion is clear," says the decision.

According to the New York World, there is no denial of free speech, but the speakers must be ready to face their responsibility to the law for what they say. "As Daniel Webster said in his reply to Hayne, the right of revolution is unquestioned, but it must frankly be admitted to be a revolution, and those who engage in it must not whine if they are visited with the punishments made and provided for such acts as theirs. That is one trouble with our theoretic revolutionists today. They want to eat their cake and have it, too. They wish to bear themselves as rebels, yet to be treated as good and worthy citizens. The supreme court has decided that this can't be done. Revolutionists retain their old privileges of perishing gloriously in arms, but they can't incite others to perish and hope to get off themselves scot free."

EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT

Of what use is the state legislature anyway? Governor Richardson signed one bill that was never passed by the legislature but was certified to him through a clerical error. And it is now a law. The courts have held that they cannot go behind the official records even when it is known that they are wrong. The California legislature passed bills fixing two different salaries for the same office, and amended a law that had been repealed twenty years ago. Apropos of these incidents some one remarks that efficiency and representativeness are not possible in the same body. In our national government we have a right to expect efficiency in the cabinet but not in Congress, since Congress is a legislative body. If cabinet members were allowed to sit in Congress and explain policies and answer questions we might expect greater efficiency in government affairs. As it is now, the President's cabinet has no common policy and decides nothing as a body. Cabinet members are expected to take the initiative in formulating measures and policies for the legislative branch, with no opportunity to appear before Congress to advocate these measures. Administrative acts of cabinet members are liable to scrutiny by Congress but members never appear before Congress to give information or answer questions on these acts. Greater co-operation between the cabinet and Congress would be for the good of the country.

Correct this sentence: "The accused woman was beautiful, and a jury of men found her guilty."

"A skin you love to touch," on closer examination, proves to have been retouched.

EXPLODING THE DARWIN THEORY

Worry

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Worry is waste of effort.

You are going to need all the strength you have to fight the real battles of life, and the strength you put forth in worry is that much waste. It is steam gone to waste and out into thin air when it might have been employed in the engine.

It is well to ask ourselves the value or need of any thought. If it can do us no good, why should we entertain it?

We cannot afford to indulge in worry. It is an extravagant habit.

It is said that nine-tenths of the things we worry about do not happen.

Grenville Kleiser says that worries are especially of two kinds: of things you cannot help and of things you can help. If you can help them, why not do it, and if you cannot help them, why worry?

Worry is not so wicked in itself as it is an unnecessary waste of energy.

If we would engage all our faculties in doing something that should have good results, we would have no time left to worry.

Kleiser gives this recipe for curing worry:

He tells us when we think a feeling of depression is coming over us to take a quick bath, stretch out on the bed and relax the entire body. Take deep abdominal breaths, raise first one arm and then the other, and repeat the exercise with each leg. After we have thoroughly relaxed the body, we should call to mind some happy incident and dwell upon it.

The more we substitute thoughts about happy and cheerful things for those that are depressing, the more worry will find no room in us and we shall acquire a cheerful disposition.

Worry is really care that comes in to fill up a vacuum. Its cause is the lack of energy in other directions. Therefore the more creative energy we exercise and purposeful thoughts we think, the less room will worry have to invade us.

Horoscope

This is rather an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrology. The Sun and Mercury are in mildly benefic aspect, while Saturn is strongly adverse.

It is a fairly good time to seek positions, especially in bookkeeping, stenography and journalism.

Until late in the afternoon Venus in opposition to Jupiter may produce vibrations that incline to extremes of emotion, extravagance and misjudgment.

This aspect is believed to be conducive to carelessness in business deals, over confidence in speculative ventures and a desire for rather dangerous pleasures.

It is well to avoid going security, especially for one's best friends, who may not be dependable under this rule.

Saturn is in a place making for irregularity on the part of elderly persons. A disposition to dictate may be evident on the part of parents.

There is a sign said to forecast many industrial troubles, for there may be much discontent, especially among men who think that women are competing with them.

This should be a first rate sway under which to settle all debts before planning for the summer vacation.

The Prince of Wales is to meet many surprises in the course of the summer, it is foretold, and in turn he will furnish surprises of his own.

Many distinguished visitors from foreign countries are to be entertained at Washington, D. C., in the early autumn, if the stars are read aright.

Mars in Leo will continue to encourage excitement in France and Italy where government affairs will be of extraordinary international interest.

Jupiter in midheaven should be most favorable to many business interests in New ork City.

Persons whose birthdate it is should pay strict attention to business in the coming year. They should look out for false friends.

Children born on this day probably will be studious and thoughtful, but they may be inclined to shrink from initiation. For that reason they will succeed best as employees.

Today's Poem

TO ONE PERSUADING A LADY TO MARRIAGE

Forbear, bold youth; all's heaven here,
And what you do aver
To others courtship may appear,
'Tis sacrilege to her.
She is a public deity;
And were't not very odd
She should dispose herself to be
A petty household god?

First make the sun in private shine
And bid the world adieu,
That so he may his beams confine
In compliment to you;
But if of that you do despair,
Think how you did amiss
To strive to fix her beams which are
More bright and large than his.

Katherine Philips.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

Usually we are prone to think our civilization near its meridian; but when we reflect more deeply, we must agree with Emerson that we are yet only at the cock-crowing and morning star.

"In our barbarous society the influence of character is in its infancy," Emerson decided.

"As a political power, as the rightful lord who is to tumble all rulers from their chairs, its presence is hardly yet suspected."

Every thought which genius throws into the world alters the world.

The gladiators in the list of power feel, through all their frocks of force, the presence of WORTH.

"I think the very strife of trade and ambition are confession of this divinity," Emerson opined; "and successes in those fields are the poor amends, the fig-leaf with which the shamed soul attempts to hide its nakedness. I find the like unwilling homage in all quarters."

It is because we know how much is due us, that we are impatient to show some petty talent as a substitute for worth.

We are haunted by a conscience of this "right to grandeur of character," and are false to it.

But each of us has some talent, can do something useful, or graceful, or formidable, or amusing, or lucrative.

And that we do as an apology to others and to ourselves, for not reaching the mark of a good and equal life.

It is observed that most persons of ability meet in society with a kind of tacit appeal. Each seems to say, "I am not all here."

"Senators and presidents have climbed so high with pain enough, not because they think the place especially agreeable, but as an apology for real worth, and to vindicate their manhood in our eyes," Emerson observed.

This is the secret of the great achievements of many men.

Climb they must, or crawl.

Who's Who

The latest addition to the ranks of Wall Street's international banking figures is Col. James A. Logan, Jr. He becomes European representative of Dillon, Reed and Co.

As a background for his new role Colonel Logan has more than ten years' association with European political and financial leaders with whom he has labored in solving post-war problems. Probably the outstanding achievement of his efforts in behalf of the American government was his work as "unofficial observer" in the Dawes Plan negotiations and the aid he was able to extend, through his knowledge of European conditions, to the American representatives, Charles E. Dawes and Owen D. Young.

According to London Gossip it was Colonel Logan who, with his quiet diplomacy, saved the Dawes plan by giving a dinner at a critical moment, bringing together opposing parties, which resulted in an agreement.

Rising from the rank of a private soldier in the United States army, Col. James A. Longan, Jr., has had a romantic career. He was a student at Haverford university when the Spanish-American war broke out. He quit college at 19 to enlist as a private in battery A, Pennsylvania volunteers.

Following service in the Philippines in 1901, Logan was commissioned as a captain and in the World war of 1914 he was made a colonel. Because of his familiarity with military customs abroad he was chosen as chief of the American military mission with the French army from September, 1914, to June, 1917.

In that post Logan was military ambassador in the difficult position of maintaining American neturality. When it became evident that the United States would enter the war, Colonel Logan was assigned to make ready for the arrival of General Pershing in France.

He got the title as assistant chief of staff with general headquarters of the American expeditionary forces and in this place had charge of the details of the formation of the skeleton organization which was to handle the millions of American soldiers who were to follow General Pershing abroad.

In 1919 Logan became the principal assistant in Europe to Herbert Hoover in his work as director general of relief under the supreme economic council. His work involved the transportation and distribution of about 5,000,000 tons of food.

This work completed, Logan gave his attention to financial and political problems as between the countries of Europe in their relations with the United States. He was the unofficial delegate on the reparations commission in association with Roland W. Boyden up to August, 1923, when he took sole charge of America's interests on that commission.

HOST TO KNIGHTS OF ROUND TABLE

Geographer's Home Scene of Social Affair Attended By Large Number

More than sixty, including Knights of the Round Table of Glendale, their wives or guests, joined in a social affair last night at the studio of J. T. Edwards, 5100 San Fernando road, at which a cafeteria-style dinner and a program of entertainment were features. The emblem of the order, the sword Excalibur, was in evidence in various forms, including souvenirs made and presented by the host.

A basket dinner was brought by the women and served at 6:30 o'clock. Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, asked the blessing. The diners united in songs led by Dr. Joseph Marple.

Dr. Arthur Loomis was in charge of the program and presented the host, a geographer, who spoke of his work for the government and for different organizations and displayed some topographical maps in illustration, including one he is making for the exposition in Philadelphia next year. Arthur C. Terrill gave Chinese dialogues, interpreting them in English as he went along.

Miss Christine Edwards offered two violin numbers, "Andante and Scherzo Capricioso" by Davis, and "Old Refrain" by Kreisler. She was accompanied by Morris Wilson of Los Angeles.

Piano selections given by Miss Helen Morgan were "Spanish Dance" by Grannados, and "Etude" by Chopin. Dr. Ferris discussed Browning's version of Excalibur, as well as that of Tennyson, and historical data concerning King Arthur and the Round Table. Mrs. J. T. Edwards, assisted by her daughters, appeared in tableaux from Tennyson's Idylls of the King.

Chairman of the entertainment committee was Dr. Loomis who was aided by Dr. Marple while the luncheon committee chairman was Mrs. Loomis who was assisted by Mrs. L. L. Craven and Mrs. Herman Powell.

OFFERS CHAMBER RIDE IN DIRIGIBLE

Glendale Inventor Invites Merchants To Arrange For Flight East

With plans completed for financing his project privately and without selling any stock, Thomas B. Slate, Glendale inventor, who will build a large new type dirigible, yesterday afternoon issued a unique invitation to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

When the big ship is completed within a few months the Glendale chamber will be asked to act as host on the first trial trip to New York city. In addition Slate anticipates calling his first ship "The Glendale."

The Chamber of Commerce will be given the privilege of inviting representatives of twenty other leading chambers of Southern California to take the trip to New York, Slate said. The dirigible, to be 200 feet in length, will have a big passenger and tonnage capacity.

Save Ice Charges

One of the features which the inventor expects to demonstrate to the chamber officials on their trial flight will be his ability to travel between here and New York at an altitude sufficiently high to produce natural refrigeration. In this manner, he points out, the most perishable products can be shipped east without the cost of artificial refrigeration.

Directors of the chamber at their meeting yesterday afternoon voted a resolution of appreciation to Slate for assuring Glendale the terminus and headquarters for his air activities. Slate left today for New York where he will complete details for building his dirigible at Ross field, Arcadia. He will start work on his return from the east.

Fire Fighters

THE modern fire truck is a great fire fighter—AFTER THE FIRE IS UNDER WAY. But the best protector is the Simons brick truck because it represents a type of construction that protects when protection counts—BEFORE THE FIRE STARTS.

A load of brick means another building forever safe from fire danger. Brick is burned in the making—it never can burn again.

When you build don't deny yourself the many advantages of brick. Investigate the present low cost of brick. It is no longer economical to build with flimsy materials. Ask for our new booklet, "How to Build with Brick at the Cost of Frame."

PLAN SURVEY OF LOCAL SCHOOLS

Board Of Education To Find If Institutions Meet New State Law

A check will be made next month of the Glendale elementary schools to determine officially whether the curriculum in this city meets the requirements of the new Harris bill recently signed by Governor Friend W. Richardson.

In the personal opinion of Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, the local schools already devote more than half their time to the study of the three R's and so probably already comply with what is said to be an addition to the bill. Also, Glendale schools do not fall within those condemned by the newspapers a short while ago as not teaching California history. Glendale children have always been instructed in the history of their state and about local matters, he said.

Subject Outlined

The bill as signed by the governor allows the teaching of no more than fifteen subjects in the grammar schools, and twelve of these are decided upon by the state as follows:

Reading, writing, spelling, language, arithmetic, geography, civics, including the constitution of the United States, music, art, training for healthful living, morals and manners, and history, including that of the United States and of California.

The new law will require no drastic revision in Glendale schools, as already they are practically based upon that plan. The main change will be that some topics now listed independently will be classified as sub-heads under the main divisions which the Harris bill calls for, said Superintendent White.

Daily Vacation Bible School Starts Monday

Next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the Daily Vacation Bible school of the First Presbyterian church will start its summer session. Work of the school will include devotional services, Bible story work, flag salutes, marches, memory training, music, games and calisthenics. The session lasts four weeks. Between 200 and 250 students are expected.

Mrs. Keith Brooks, director of religious education of the church, will be principal of the school. Mrs. Brooks will be assisted by Mrs. Anita Fletcher, who will be in charge of junior girls; Miss L. Gertrude Kern, in charge of junior boys; Mrs. T. A. Lewis, in charge of primary department; Miss Louise Daugherty, in charge of kindergarten work; Herbert Richert and Miss Bertha A. Barr will be in charge of music. Kenneth Lewis will serve as secretary.

Best Things will be the topic for the first week; Character Building for the second week; Essential Bible Doctrines for the third week; and the Lord Jesus Christ for the fourth week.

The school will be in session every day except Saturday from 9 a. m. until 12 m.

Colonist Rates Denied Despite Plea Of State

Colonists' rates available to parties of five or more persons coming to California or other western states are no longer available, according to a ruling of the Western Passenger Traffic union at Chicago, made after a number of requests for such rates had been made by Southern California chambers of commerce and realty boards.

The movement to have colonists' rates granted permanent home seekers who come to California was started by the Glendale Realty board and was taken up by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Through the influence of the local organizations, civic bodies in other cities got behind the movement. Whether further action will be taken to secure the rates has not been decided, Secretary Howard I. Wood of the chamber stated.

LOU TELLEGEN ON BILL FOR COSMO

Famous Actor to Be Seen In 'Breath of Scandal' as Leading Character

The long feature films of today owe their origin partly to Lou Tellegen, leading man in "The Breath of Scandal," a new Preferred Picture coming today to the Cosmo theatre.

When the movies were in a still greater infancy than some people like to imagine they are now, Lou Tellegen startled the producing world by announcing that he would do the suicidal thing of making the first seven-reeler in history.

That was more than a decade ago, yet Mr. Tellegen's idea has survived, in fact grown to greater proportions. The distinguished leading man and motion picture veteran has since reached even more enviable stardom, and out of the seven-reeler has evolved the ten and even twelve-reeler.

As the histrionic mainstay of the early picture companies, Tellegen also had a hand in the recommendation and selection of suitable motion picture material. And even at that time producers and actors were turning away from the ordinary in movie drama and toward things novel and more within the camera's wide scope.

Strong Role

PATSY RUTH MILLER in 'The Breath of Scandal,' at the Cosmo theatre.

The feature production at the Cosmo theatre today is "The Breath of Scandal," with a noteworthy cast. Foremost among the players in this stirring picture are Patsy Ruth Miller and Lou Tellegen. Others in the cast are Betty Blythe, Forrest Stanley, Myrtle Stedman and Jack Mulhall.

Rounding out the program is a Spat Family comedy, funny enough to make anybody laugh, while one of the "Go-Getters" series is shown.

Talk On Hawaii To Be Feature Of Meeting

Ira D. Vayhinger, executive secretary, will be in charge of the prayer meeting tonight at the First Presbyterian church. Vayhinger will illustrate his talk on "How the Bible Came to Hawaii" with many beautiful scenes showing the history of Christian missions and depicting present-day problems in the islands.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Miss Cecil Scott Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase of 400 Riverdale drive, is attending the Y. W. C. A. conference in session at Asilomar. Miss Chase plans to return home next week.

Thrills

Florence Vidor in "Girl of Gold" at Glendale theatre has part that runs gamut of emotions and excitement.

"The Girl of Gold," the successful novel by Cleveland Moffatt and Anna Chapin which has been filmed by Regal Pictures with Florence Vidor in the starring role, opened today for a two-day run at the Glendale theatre.

This spectacular story of a rich girl's search for real love and happiness is particularly well-suited for screen treatment and Florence Vidor has a role which gives her a splendid opportunity to display her artistry.

Chief among the many thrilling scenes is a society dance staged on the sixteenth level of a gold mine and a great explosion while the hilarity is at its height. It is said that nothing like this episode has ever before been filmed.

Takes Leading Role

Malcolm McGregor who was recently seen in "The House of Youth" and other screen vehicles has the leading male role. The supporting cast includes Alan Roscoe, Bessie Eyeton, Claire DuBrey and Charles French.

The character of Lucius Merrimore in "The Girl of Gold" is a modern characterization of a famous mining king of California. Charles French, who plays this role spent days in studying the history of this richest of "forty-niners." This picturesque figure made a huge fortune in the west out of his gold and silver mines, and going to New York made a place for himself by sheer force of character in the innermost circles of society.

KISS IN DARK IS BASIS FOR PLOT

Adaptation Of Stage Play Is Featured Along With Select Vaudeville

The Paramount picture, "A Kiss in the Dark," featuring Adolphe Menjou, Lillian Rich and Aileen Pringle, comes to the Gateway theatre today, to be featured with a select vaudeville.

The story is an adaptation of the Frederick Lonsdale stage success, "Aren't We All." Frank Tuttle directed the production, which was adapted for the screen by Townsend Martin.

In brief, the story deals with pretty Janet Livingstone (Aileen Pringle), who for many years has tried to reform Walter Grenham (Menjou), an amiable beau who too frequently becomes involved in mile-a-minute romances with other young women.

Stage, Screen Stars In New Theatre Opening

Bard's new Pasadena theatre opened auspiciously Tuesday night. Many stars of stage and screen were there making personal appearances. The entire program will be continued at regular admission prices for the balance of the week, with continuous performances from 2 to 11 o'clock daily. The de luxe shows starting at 3, 7 and 9 o'clock.

The program includes Warner Brothers' special world premiere production of "Bobbed Hair" with Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan, a pre-release Charley Chase comedy, Topics of the Day, and News followed by six acts of Pantages vaudeville, including the Cavana Duo, Rita Tinelli, Italian prima donna; Josselyn and Turner in "A Diversion via Race Track"; Barbier Sims Co. in "Action Camera"; Nellie Fernandez, Raphael, Diaz Co. in "A Night In Old Mexico," and others.

Glendale Scouts In Jackson Lake Camp

Harvey R. Cheesman, local Scout executive, returned last night from Jackson's Lake, in the new Los Angeles county park near Big Pine, at an elevation of 7000 feet, where Glendale Scout Troop 9, sponsored by Glendale Rotary club, with Dr. Warren Z. Newton as Scoutmaster, and Burbank Troop 4 are in camp this week. Mr. Cheesman took the outing party, equipment and supplies to the camp in the new truck, recently purchased by Verdugo Hills council.

He states that the boys are ideally located in the big pine timber. The boys are doing their own cooking under Dr. Newton's direction. Duties of the camp are assumed by rotation. On Thursday and Friday an overnight camp is to be enjoyed at the head of the San Gabriel river. Mr. Cheesman will go after the campers Saturday. Boys in camp are Roderick Scribner, Alfred Skeel, William Reese, Sherman Otis, Harvey Otis, Sam Blake, Kenneth Dietel, Francis Jones, Walter Russell.

Refreshments will be served later.

Reports Featured At Club's Annual Meeting

ive of club homes in California. In eloquent words she paid tribute to Mrs. Charles H. Toll and other club leaders of Glendale.

Officers Installed

Installing the officers she gave a thought of inspiration to each one, stressing co-operation and loyalty on the part of the club as a whole. Installed were Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president; Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, first vice-president; Mrs. E. S. McKee, second vice-president; Mrs. Chester O. Kling, recording secretary; Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. R. Chappell, treasurer; Mrs. T. H. Hudson, Mrs. A. M. Hunt, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, Mrs. Lillian Dow, Mrs. S. C. Packer, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, directors.

Outstanding reports of the day were those given by Mrs. Chappell, treasurer; Mrs. Lockwood, retiring chairman of ways and means; Mrs. F. H. Wallace, program chairman; Mrs. T. H. Hudson, philanthropy; Mrs. G. F. Orgibet, junior juvenile protective association; Mrs. Daniel Campbell, federation secretary; Mrs. E. S. McKee, ways and means for next year; Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., endowment; Mrs. E. B. Sutton house; Mrs. J. H. Toal, decoration; Mrs. J. L. McOmber, remembrance; Mrs. L. E. Bennett, calling; Mrs. Fred Abbey, hospitality; Miss Eva Daniels, publicity; Mrs. C. E. Norton, courtesy; Mrs. Pomeroy, club literature.

Treasurer's Report

The treasurer's report showed that cash on hand at the beginning of the club year amounted to $2765.51; that total receipts for the year just closed were $24,000.23; that disbursements were $20,145.86; leaving a balance of $4304.37, with all bills paid.

Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, retiring chairman of ways and means, received a flattering ovation, when she arose to give her report. She stated that during the year 15,705 persons were served either dinner or luncheon in the club banquet hall, making an average of 1500 persons a month. To her request that each member during the year either make $5 for the club, or work for the club in time amounting to that sum, twenty-eight per cent of the club membership responded, and their assistance considered in terms of dollars and cents, made a saving of $837.50 for the club. During the year Mrs. Lockwood and her committee raised $8325.

Buys Equipment

Another interesting report was given by Mrs. Wallace, who is deserving of highest praise for the programs she has secured for the club during the year. She was allowed a budget of $1500 for eighteen programs. Yesterday she stated that a balance was left with which her committee purchased twelve attractive chairs for the auditorium stage, a new table for the palm court, three baskets for the luncheon table, and helped pay for the bird cage in the court, secured by the Travel department, Mrs. H. B. Woodill, curator. Mrs. Wallace presented a small check left to the treasurer.

Of particular interest was the report of Mrs. C. E. Norton, chairman of courtesy, who stated that during the year 1300 guests have been entertained at club meetings by members. Mrs. J. L. McOmber, very gracious remembrance chairman, stated that during the year she has written 251 letters.

Mrs. E. S. McKee in briefly outlining ways and means plans for next year, introduced her secretary, Mrs. Carter; Mrs. L. L. Craven, chairman of bridge, who stated that a series of summer affairs will be held the first Thursday of each month, beginning July 2; Mrs. Warren Z. Newton, chairman of dancing, who stated that a moonlight dance will be held in August at the W. S. Rattray home on Kenneth road.

President in Charge

Mrs. John Robert White, chairman of endowment, stated that the club paid $212.50 on its quota, leaving a balance still due of $99.50. Mrs. Hudson, the very efficient chairman of philanthropy, gave a marvelous report, showing that the club participated most actively in assisting the less fortunate, by an expenditure of $600, assisting seventeen philanthropic institutions, and taking part in other similar movements.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, presided over the luncheon and afternoon meeting. She received at the luncheon an attractive green and gold table standard, a gift from the American Citizenship and Legislative department, to hold a small silk American flag, a gift from Mrs. John Robert White, Jr.

Mrs. Harry S. McCormack of Glendale, who distinguished herself as corresponding secretary of Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, during Mrs. Toll's regime, sat at the honor table, and gave brief greeting.

Musical Program

Musical features of the luncheon hour were songs by Marie Bishop, dramatic soprano, accompanied by Miss June Hartman.

Mrs. J. J. Carter of the Hollywood Bowl association, and James Everington, Jr., secretary of Glendale Traffic commission, were speakers at the afternoon club meeting. Mrs. White presented a resolution endorsing the concert series sponsored by Glendale Music club, and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett amendments to by-laws dealing with membership. All were favorably acted upon. Mrs. R. E. Chase presented to the club the banner won in the final dramatic contests in the Eisteddfod. Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, representing the Fine Arts department, presented the club with a portfolio containing reproductions of paintings by well known American artists.

Special Feature

Through the curtesy of Walter David, well known impresario of the Fitzgerald Music Co., Mrs. Wallace presented a most talented program, a brilliant climax to year. Marjorie Dodge, eminent American soprano, and Clifford Lott, baritone, equally as well known American singer, assisted by Enona Hopkins, talented harpist, who resides in Glendale, were the entertaining artists. Accompaniments were by the Knabe Ampico.

A special feature not announced was the dramatic presentation by Mr. David, of Richard Harding Davis' appealing sketch, "The Littlest Girl."

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

What will the girls have to say about the ukase of the Women's National Amateur Athletic association convention in Los Angeles this week to the effect that the fairer sex shall not compete with boys in sports events?

Yes, it is to wonder, for the probability is that girls will want to do whatever is banned, to show their independence—not to hint that swimming, track and field events and tennis do not show more than skill and independence, from the spectator's viewpoint.

What the women should ban for the daughters of today is an education that completely takes girlhood away from its proper sphere. Too many of them fail to realize the practical things in life until it is too late for them to have a happy home. And they go marching forth, legions of them, competing, even in the learned professions, with men who have families to support, or so reducing the living scale that other men cannot afford to get married.

A picture of Police Judge Georgia Bullock and her son, Wynne, a popular ballad singer, carried the caption: "Good Mother and Good Judge." There's an example for young women who court a career. Share it with someone, like the famous Minnie Palmer, mother of the Marx brothers, among whom is Al Shean. (Funny how they mix these stage names, isn't it?)

Los Angeles has instituted a street improvement program that involves upwards of $30,000,000. Other public work during the next fiscal year will likely involve another $20,000,000, not to mention routine of the departments. That is a payroll that indirectly affects the prosperity of this community. Yet it is a mere drop in the bucket compared to the hundreds of millions paid out in industrial and commercial enterprises.

Southern California's principal salaried people are farmers, mechanics and film workers, in the order named. Los Angeles has almost a monopoly on motion picture employes. Its shops employ more automobile mechanics per 100 population than elsewhere; building trades score more heavily here per capita than elsewhere. And Los Angeles county long has boasted of producing a greater value in agriculture than any other sector in the United States. Adjacent counties and valleys are not allowing grass to grow, either, where fruits, flowers, grain, cotton, vegetables, chickens and cattle thrive. That's how the farms here support more people per capita than elsewhere—because of the diversity.

In Mississippi a quarter bale of cotton to the acre is considered a pretty good crop. Here in California, in the Imperial valley, a bale to the acre is only ordinary, and in the San Joaquin valley they are striving for two bales average. More potatoes were raised on ten acres in San Joaquin county last year than in any other patch of like area in the world. Sacramento valley, to the north, is noted for its rice, peaches and wheat. Imperial valley ships more melons than any other place. California citrus crops, grapes, apricots, figs, prunes and beans supply world demands.

That is not all, however, for eggs, sugar from beets, olives, dairy products and honey are lesser satellites in America's market basket. Be it known that California eggs bring a premium in New York, while London demands our honey and preserves.

Tourists sometimes are under the impression they are the financial backbone of the Southland, but they know little about the oil exports, fishing industry, mining and manufacturing here, which contribute far more than the agricultural and motion picture production, more apparent because of outstanding leadership.

Possibilities here are absolutely unlimited. And if you do not believe this section is prosperous, ask the railway passenger agents. Californians have the cash, no fooling!

Those visitors in our midst who have the vision of opportunity, however, stop, look, listen and invest. Indeed, it is "tourist" who made California by coming west and staying with it.

Little Artists Will Appear In Recital

Eleanor Adamson, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Adamson, 515 North Howard street, is to give a piano program at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard. Assisting her will be two other little artists, Garnet Peoples, violinist, and Adrienne McDade, dancer. Eleanor, who is most talented, is studying with Mrs. Lillian Ballagh. Mrs. Adamson and Mrs. Ballagh are to be hostesses at the musical, to which 100 invitations were issued.

Valley Shows $1,000,000 Gain In Year

Property in the La Crescenta valley, a year ago assessed by the county at $2,571,780, is worth approximately $1,000,000 more than that at the present time, it was declared today. The assessment rolls for 1925-26 will show a valuation approximating $3,500,000, according to word from the county assessor's office, a gain in valuation within one year of 40 per cent.

Growth in population, with a subsequent era of home building, development of water resources, improvement of highways and a marked advance in business center development, have contributed heavily to the increase in values, it was stated.

Business Men To Hold Annual Banquet-Dance

will give a short talk on credit. Van DeWater is considered one of the best authorities on retail credit in the United States. The Los Angeles association occupies two floors of the Sun building. There are thirty more members on its staff than on that of the New York association, and it is the largest retail credit office in the world.

Van Wie to Entertain

Miss Edna Lucille Harvey, hailed as a "miniature Pavlowa," will be the principal dancer. G. N. Dolberg, who recently won the Eisteddfod contests, will give two numbers. A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, and famed as a clever impersonator, will entertain with a number of new specialties. Numbers from KNX broadcasting station and a special Bill Hatch orchestra number will complete the program.

The banquet is set for 7:15 o'clock. There will be dancing from 10 o'clock until midnight.

The Glendale Merchants' association has increased its membership more than 300 per cent in the last four months. Charles J. Hatz is president, and he and the board of directors have made some especially notable improvements in the credit bureau, as well as in other departments. The regular staff consists of a manager, a membership secretary, a reporter and four women assistants. The association is owned by the merchants and functions in fifteen different departments.

BUYER RETURNS FROM TRIP EAST

M. Lightner Tells Of Heat In Washington, New York; Glad To Get Back

M. Lightner of the Glendale Music Co. has just returned from a trip through the principal cities of the east. Among the cities visited in his itinerary are St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Washington, D. C.

In common with other Californians, Lightner breathes a sigh of relief at coming back to the coolness and cleanliness of Glendale. While east, the Glendalian struck the hottest weather recorded in thirty years, the recent devastating hot spell. In Washington, Lightner had the questionable pleasure of seeing an egg fried on the sidewalk in three minminutes. What happened to the barbecued humans he does not relate!

In New York City the parks were open all night to sleepers, and the fire hydrants were busy keeping the tenement youngsters from sizzling up altogether. In fact, as Lightner said: "You don't know the half of it! Western papers did not paint the heat half as bad as it really was. The hottest day in Glendale is cool compared to New York city."

Buys Pianos, Radios

Aside from being sizzled and fried, Lightner reports a most successful trip. Three carloads of pianos, both new and used, are following Lightner over the rails. No end of expense was spared on the trip to bring back the best in pianos and radios to Glendale, but so successful was Lightner's purchasing acumen that he obtained rock-bottom prices without sacrificing quality, declared Salmacia Brothers' eastern representative and advertising manager. The newest in radios were also brought back from the east, and are at Glendale Music Co.

Lightner went East with the idea also of bringing back eastern ideas in merchandising. But, on comparing methods of eastern and western merchants, he found the latter incomparably ahead of the former.

Ten years ago Salmacia Brothers started in a small way the house which has now grown to be the largest music concern in any city the size of Glendale. Lightner has been with the Glendale Music Co. for four years.

An artificial silk factory operated by electricity is to be established at Woverhampton, England.

CHARIOT BRIGADE OF ARMY COMES

Salvationists Will Conduct Evangelistic Services In Glendale Hall

The Charioteer Brigade of the Salvation Army will conduct old-time evangelistic services at the Glendale Salvation Army hall every night this week. Services open at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

In connection with the visit of the Charioteer Brigade to the local Salvation Army corps, it is interesting to know that besides conducting Army meetings they have many times been requested by ministers of various denominations to lead meetings in their churches.

A letter from the Rev. W. H. D. Homaday, pastor of the East Side Methodist Episcopal church of Santa Cruz, written to Commander Barnes of the Charioteers, highly commends the Brigade for the success of the meetings they conducted in his church.

Sermon Is Praised

The pastor in his letter states that "the great sermon of Commandant Barnes will never be forgotten by the large congregation. The singing of the quartet was as much appreciated as any music we ever had, and we frequently have among the best. The trombone duet, and, in fact, all the music, was wonderfully inspiring."

The Santa Cruz minister plans to have the Charioteers return to conduct a revival campaign as soon as possible.

Haines of 212 West Lomita avenue, is taking with him a supply of the pictures which he will sell at various cities to pay some of the expenses of the trip.

It is his plan to sell Haines' pictures to different merchants, and also obtain orders for the future. Glacier National park in Montana, Yelloystone National park, Wyoming, Mt. Chamber's Aid Sought In Airplane Stock Sale

Endorsement of the Kinner Airplane Corp. by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in a letter to be used in the sale of $35,000 additional stock of the company was asked by C. J. Barr and J. R. DuBartus, representatives of the company, who appeared before the chamber directors yesterday afternoon. Already $65,000 worth of stock has been sold by the concern, they stated. In order to further equip the factory at the Glendale airport for quantity production of Kinner Airsters, W. B. Kinner will seek to sell the additional stock. The company is incorporated for $100,000, it was stated.

The endorsement was referred to Dr. T. C. Young and the aeronautical committee before action will be taken.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
THE FINDING OF THE ARROW

Ann's rooms were upon the second floor with the windows upon the garden, a bedroom and a sitting room communicating directly with one another. They were low in the roof, but spacious, and Hanaud, as he looked around the bedroom, said in a tone of doubt:

"Yes . . . after all, if one were frightened suddenly out of one's wits, one might stumble about this room in the dark and lose one's way to the light switch. There isn't one over the bed." Then he shrugged his shoulders. "But, to be sure, one would be careful that one's details could be verified. So——" and the doubt passed out of his voice.

The words were all Greek to the commissaire of police and his secretary and Monsieur Bex. Maurice Thevenet, indeed, looked sharply at Hanaud, as if he was on the point of asking one of those questions which he had been invited to ask. But Girardot, the commissaire, who was panting heavily with his ascent of two flights of stairs, spoke first.

"We shall find nothing to interest us here," he said. "That pretty girl would never have asked us to pry about among her dainty belongings if there had been anything to discover."

"One never knows," replied Hanaud. "Let us see!"

Jim walked away into the sitting-room. He had no wish to follow step by step Hanaud and the commissaire in their search; and he had noticed on the table in the middle of the room a blotting-pad and some note paper and the materials for writing. He wanted to get all this whirl of conjecture and fact and lies, in which during the last two days he had lived, sorted and separated and set in order in his mind; and he knew no better way of doing so than by putting it all down shortly in the "for" and "against" style of Robinson Crusoe on his desert island. He would have a quiet hour or so while Hanaud indefatigably searched. He took a sheet of paper, selected a pen at random from the tray and began. It cost Ann Upcott, however, a good many sheets of note paper, and more than once the nib dropped out of his pen holder and was forced back into it before he had finished. But he had his problem reduced at last to these terms:

For

(1) Although suspicion that murder had been committed arose in the first instance only from the return to its shelf of the "Treatise on Sporanthus Hispidus," subsequent developments, e.g., the disappearance of the poison arrow, the introduction into the case of the ill-famed Jean Cladel, Ann Upcott's story of her visit to the treasure room, and now the mystery of Mrs. Harlowe's pearl necklace, make out a prima facie case for inquiry.

Against

But in the absence of any trace of poison in the dead woman's body, it is difficult to see how the criminal can be brought to justice, except by

(a) A confession.

(b) The commission of another crime of a similar kind. Hanaud's theory—once a poisoner always a poisoner.

For

(2) If murder was committed, it is probable that it was committed at half-past ten at night when Ann Upcott, in the treasure room, heard the sound of a struggle and the whisper, "That will do now."

Against

Ann Upcott's story may be partly or wholly false. She knew that Mrs. Harlowe's bedroom was to be opened and examined. If she also knew that the pearl necklace had disappeared, she must have realized that it would be advisable for her to tell some story before its disappearance was discovered, which would divert suspicion from her.

For

(3) It is clear that whoever committed the murder, if murder was committed, Betty Harlowe had nothing to do with it. She had an ample allowance. She was at M. Pouillac's ball on the night. Moreover, once Mrs. Harlowe was dead, the necklace became Betty Harlowe's property. Had she committed the murder, the necklace would not have disappeared.

(4) Who then are possibly guilty?

Against

It is possible that the disappearance of the necklace is in no way connected with the murder, if murder there was.

For

(i) The servants.

Against

(i) All of them have many years of service to their credit. It is not possible that any of them would have understood enough of the "Treatise on Sporanthus Hispidus" to make use of it. If any of them were concerned it can only be as an accessory or assistant working under the direction of another.

For

(ii) Jeanne Baudin, the nurse. More attention might be given to her. It is too easily accepted that she has nothing to do with it.

Against

No one suspects her. Her record is good.

For

(iii) Francine Rollard. She was certainly frightened this afternoon. The necklace would be a temptation.

Was it she who bent over Ann Upcott in the darkness?

Against

She was frightened of the police as a class, rather than of being accused of a crime. She acted her part in the reconstruction scene without breaking down. If she were concerned, it could only be for the reason given above, as an assistant.

For

(iv) Ann Upcott.

Her introduction into the Maison Grenelle took place through Waberski and under dubious circumstances. She is poor, a paid companion, and the necklace is worth a considerable fortune.

Against

Her introductions may be explicable on favorable grounds. Until we know more of her history it is impossible to judge.

For

She was in the house on the night of Mrs. Harlowe's death. She told Gaston he could turn out the lights and go to bed early that evening. She could easily have admitted Waberski and received the necklace as the price of her complicity.

Against

Her account of the night of April 27 may be true from beginning to end.

For

The story she told us in the garden may have been the true story of what occurred adapted. It may have been she who whispered "That will do now." She may have whispered it to Waberski.

Against

In that case the theory of a murder is enormously strengthened. But who whispered, "That will do now"? And who was bending over Ann Upcott when she waked up?

For

Her connection with Waberski was sufficiently close to make him count upon Ann's support in his charge against Betty.

(v) Waberski.

He is a scoundrel, a would-be blackmailer.

He was in straits for money and he expected a thumping legacy from Mrs. Harlowe.

He may have brought Ann Upcott into the house with the thought of murder in his mind.

Having failed to obtain any profit from his crime, he accuses Betty of the same crime as a blackmailing proposition.

As soon as he knew that Mrs. Harlowe had been exhumed and an autopsy made he collapsed. He knew, if he had used himself the poison arrow, that no trace of poison would be found.

He knew of Jean Cladel, and, according to his own story, was in the Rue Gambetta close to Jean Cladel's shop. It is possible that he himself had been visiting Cladel to pay for the solution of Strophanthus.

Against

But he would have collapsed equally if he had believed that no murder had been committed at all.

If murder was committed the two people most obviously to suspect are Ann Upcott and Waberski working in collusion.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND WIZZIE'S TRICK

"Weezie! Whoo-oo, Weezie!" shouted Wizzie, the little boy rabbit, to his twin sister one day when he saw her just ahead of him on the woodland path coming from the hollow stump school.

"What's the matter?" asked the little bunny girl who had skipped out before her brother. She turned around to look at him.

"I'm going to play a better trick on Daddicums Uncle Wiggily than you played," said Wizzie. "He didn't get stuck at all in the molasses you poured in the chair you made him sit in. He didn't get stuck at all!"

"Well, he would have been stuck only the red ants came and ate up all the molasses before I had a chance to get him to sit in it," said Weezie. "But what's your trick, Wizzie?"

"You'll see!" laughed the little boy rabbit, and he and Wizzie were about to hop along the path when they heard a small voice asking:

"Will you please be so kind as to tell me the way to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow?"

The bunny children turned and saw a honey bee perched on the edge of a green leaf. The bee was looking kindly at them, so Weezie and Wizzie knew they were in no danger of being stung.

"Uncle Wiggily is our new daddy," answered Weezie, "and he lives in a hollow stump bungalow over there," and she pointed in the right direction. "But why do you want to go there?" asked the bunny child.

"Uncle Wiggily was once very kind to me," buzzed the bee, "and I am taking him a little pot of honey to eat on his cabbage cake."

"Oh, Daddicums loves honey!" exclaimed Wizzie. "I hope there is enough for us," he added.

"If there isn't I'll bring more tomorrow," buzzed the bee, and then, when Weezie had again pointed toward where the bungalow stood, the honey creature flew off and Weezie and Wizzie raced home.

"When are you going to play your trick on Daddicums?" whispered Weezie.

"Right now," answered her brother. "Listen! I'm going to take his tall silk hat, which is like a pail, and fill it with water. It will hold nearly a quart when you stand it wrong side up on the table. And after the water is in the hat, Daddicums will come in to get it and put it on his head. He will be in a hurry, as he always is when he goes adventuring, and he won't notice the water. When he turns his hat right side up, to put it on, the water will spill out all over him!"

"Oh, that will be a fine trick!" laughed Weezie, and after her brother had put water in the rabbit gentleman's tall, silk hat, the two little tykes, as I call them sometimes, hid under the table on top of which Wizzie left the hat.

They waited, knowing that soon Uncle Wiggily would come in to take his hat to go adventuring. And, surely enough, pretty soon they heard his voice saying:

"Oh, thank you for the honey, my dear Bee. It was very kind of you to bring it. Now if you will wait a minute I'll get my tall, silk hat and walk through the woods as you fly back to your hive."

"Now for the trick!" whispered Wizzie to his sister, as they hid under the table. But all of a sudden something strange happened. The tricky little rabbits heard the bee buzz into the room. They heard Uncle Wiggily laugh and then, like a spring shower, down through the cracks in the top of the table poured a lot of water, wetting Weezie and Wizzie.

"Oh! Oh!" cried the little rabbit boy and girl as they scrambled out, running to get away from the queer shower.

"Why, Weezie! Why, Wizzie!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know you were under the table. Somebody filled my hat with water and I was just going to put it on, and get all wet, perhaps, when my friend the bee happened to notice it. With his sharp sting he bored some tiny holes in my hat to let the water run out. I'm sorry it ran on you!"

"Well, you don't need to be sorry!" buzzed the Bee, "for it was Wizzie who put the water in your hat and Weezie wanted to see you get wet when you put it on."

"It was—now—just a trick!" stammered Wizzie.

"But it didn't work any better than mine did!" laughed Weezie. The little bunny children were soon dried and then their daddy gave them some honey. And they didn't play any more tricks that day.

But if the ice wagon doesn't catch cold when it brings the snow cakes to the doll's picnic, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cave tree.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

CAR, BUT COPS WALK

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 24.—Although the city boasts of a brand new motorized patrol wagon it remains idle while the policemen march with their prisoners afoot to the station.

All because of an edict of John E. Cole, chief of police.

"Walk until you learn to drive," he ordered.

And the five cops on the force walk.

"I'm the only one on the force who can drive the car, and I'm going to walk, too, until I teach my men how to drive," Cole said.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Miss D.—Please go to see a physician who specializes in tuberculosis. While obviously it is impossible for me to do long distance diagnosing, your symptoms strongly suggest tuberculosis. Don't be unhappy because I say this, for tuberculosis is easily cured if treated in time.

We have an article on the subject from which we have had many good reports. This has a list of good books written for the laymen. Will you please send for that, and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request?

The Diphtheria Epidemic in Nome

We all remember the soul-stirring story of the delivery of the antitoxin by the dog teams to Nome. You will be interested to know that the American Medical Association has received a letter from Dr. Curtis Welch, Health Officer at Nome. Here's an excerpt from it:

"Since the new serum has come out, we have used it unstintingly, and at this date, we have only one case and the patient is convalescing. I expect to lighten the quarantine on February 21, but have warned the people and the Board of Health against laxity. It is to be expected that as soon as the quarantine is lifted, sporadic cases will occur, but we have now plenty of fresh antitoxin and I feel that the danger of any serious epidemic is over."

Antitoxin is a preventative and a cure for diphtheria, if given in time. It is a serum from the blood of healthy young horses, who have been given doses of diphtheria toxin until they have developed protection or antitoxin against the poison. Instead of waiting for a child to develop its own antitoxin and perhaps not succeed and die, this antitoxin already manufactured by these healthy young horses is given and almost immediately it neutralizes the poisons. Its efficacy is in direct proportion to the time it is given. For this reason it is given in suspicious looking sore throats even before the laboratory diagnosis of diphtheria, so as not to lose any valuable time. If the case is not diphtheria, no harm has been done and if it is, the patient has a greater chance to be saved.

Overweight and the Menopause

"I am an ex-nurse, 48 years old, and have reduced from 185 to 155 by your instructions. Notwithstanding the menopause, I have proven that many things that I laid to increasing years have really been caused or aggravated by overweight, and I now feel younger by ten years at least. I cannot begin to tell you what wonderful results I have experienced and how grateful and thankful I am.—Mrs. B."

Overweight is not necessary during or following the menopause (change of life) any more than at other times. We know that in those overweight many of the symptoms supposed to be due to the menopause are really due to the overweight, especially when accompanied by high blood pressure. Your letter will help to start others in the right track, Mrs. B. Thank you for writing.

(Those who missed our instructions on reducing, may have a resume of them in booklet form, by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with ten cents in stamps, to partially cover the cost of printing and handling. We also have an article on high blood pressure which you may have; for this or for any other articles we offer send only a s.a.s.e.)

Mrs. P.—Ring up the County Medical Society or the Board of Health in your city. They will tell you if there is a Home for Incurables there.

Mr. X.—An habitual headache is a symptom, not a disease. Have you had a thorough physical examination including the eyes? I suggest you do that. We have an article on the subject you may have—see above for directions.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Last week I wrote about mixing a cake containing butter. Today I am going to deal with cakes which contain no butter—plain Sponge Cake, White Sponge (or "Angel") Cake and Sunshine Cake.

Sponge Cake: Break three eggs into a bowl (do not separate) and then beat till light and creamy. Add, gradually, one cup of granulated sugar and continue beating till thick and light-colored (this will take five minutes of beating). Next add four tablespoons of cold water, beat again, and stir in one cup of bread flour which has been previously sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Beat vigorously for several minutes, flavor with one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract, beat again, and turn the batter into a loaf cake pan to bake in a moderate oven from thirty to forty minutes.

White Sponge or Angel Cake: Beat five egg-whites to a froth, then add one-half teaspoon of cream of tartar, and continue beating till very stiff and dry. This beating is the secret of a successful angel cake; the eggs must be stiff and dry, before you add the rest of the ingredients. Next add three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar gradually, then flavor with a little lemon-rind grating, and fold in one-half cup of bread flour which has been previously sifted four times. Turn into a regular angel cake pan, and bake in a low oven for about forty minutes.

Sunshine Cake: Beat five egg-whites very stiff and dry, then beat into them one-half cup of granulated sugar. Now also beat three egg-yolks very light, and add to them one-fourth cup of granulated sugar, and the grated rind of one-half orange. Combine the two mixtures. Then fold in one-half cup of flour which has been previously sifted with one-half teaspoon of cream of tartar. Do this mixing quickly and turn all into a loaf cake pan to bake for about fifty-five minutes in a very slow oven.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

FILING THE NAILS

In addition to daily manicures, the nails will need to be reshaped once each week with a steel file.

Use a Good Steel File.

Emery boards are for good trimming or for keeping the edges neat, but they are not much good for filing down, or for making the nails shorter. The steel file is quicker and more efficient.

It must be a long file and flexible. The better the steel, the more flexible it will be and the longer it will last. Do you remember the gallants in the old historical romances bending their sword blades into great curves to test the quality of the steel? A good file will bend easily, the ridges will be finer and sharper and it will hold its sharpness. Coarse or dull files will tear and injure the fingernails.

Buy a good file. Pay from 50c to $1 for it, that's not much for so useful an instrument. Shape each nail carefully to a slightly rounded point, extending a little over the edge of the finger. The longer the point, within reason, the longer and more tapering the finger will seem. But very long nails will look like claws and are only for women who do no work; one useful job accomplished will probably mean the breaking of at least three carefully shaped long nails.

Having shaped the nails, dip the fingers in water a minute or two to soften the cuticle. Warm soapy water is best; if it has a little lemon juice in it, it will bleach off most of the stains around the finger tips. After this clean under each nail with the pointed end of a file, and use the emery board to take off the skin of the nail, which the file has turned under. Now clip off the loose skin at each edge where nail and finger meet, and you are ready for the rest of your manicure.

S. L.: Constantly perspiring hands indicate a low state of vitality and should be cared for by a doctor. Temporary relief may be obtained by using an astringent powder such as an ordinary powder in which a few drops of salicylic acid has been distributed. It is best to have the druggist do this for you as it takes so little salicylic that you can hardly do it yourself. Everything that builds up the health or tones up the skin will help, and cold baths are particularly good if you get complete reaction from them.

Tomorrow—Freckles

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

HULI TRUCKS HIT CHURCHMEN HARD

League Leaders Chalk Up 21 Runs, Blank Opponents; Allow Two Bingles

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff

What the Huli Trucks did not do to the Christian Church team in the way of baseball yesterday afternoon is hardly worth mentioning. First, the truckmen beat the churchmen, 21 to 0. Then E. Jensen held the churchmen to two lonely hits, only one of which went out of the infield.

To make the defeat all the more noteworthy, only seven men got bases when the churchmen were at bat, and of this number only two got safely beyond first base. One player got as far as third, and died there, while another stole second and remained there.

On top of all this, Fansett walloped out a home run, so did H. Doll, and Fansett gathered three double-base bingles. Rand Doll and H. Doll connected for triples. E. Jensen fanned five men, four of them in a row, and walked two.

Rev. Cole, who started at second, but went into the box in the fourth, got one of the two hits made by the team, and the only hit to outfield, but went out at second when he tried to stretch his single into a double.

The truckmen fattened up their batting averages at the expense of Bates and Cole. They gathered thirteen hits and eleven runs off Bates in three innings and eleven hits and ten runs off Cole in two innings.

This afternoon the Huli Trucks will play the Public Service crew at the White Sox park, while the Calla Lily crew and the Postoffice team are playing at Broadway field. Tomorrow the Radios and the Glendale Creamery aggregation meet at Broadway field. Friday the Huli Trucks and Firemen battle for first place at the same lot, and Saturday the Christian Church and Glendale Creamery teams play the final game of the first round.

Report Ewing Offered Bonus For Permission

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—J. Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, has been offered $30,000 to permit the Salt Lake club to be transferred to San Francisco, it was reported among baseball fans here today.

It was said that a deal to move the Mormons to San Francisco as a club for that city's mission district, giving San Francisco continuous baseball, was well under way. Ewing was offered the $30,000 because he has the power to prevent another club going into the bay city and was proffered the money as a bonus, it was reported.

Has Toughest Job In League

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

When Babe Ruth paid the penalty of indulging in too many extra meals, Ben Paschal, late of the Southern association, drew the toughest assignment in the American league, that of substituting for Ruth in the Yankee outfield.

Paschal's running-mate for "toughest job" honors in the National league is Frank Walker, young Giant outfielder.

Frank isn't substituting for any one star. He's fighting three of them to hold his job in the championship lineup. Ordinarily there are but two candidates for a given job on a ball club. Once in a while three loom up as possibilities for a regular berth in a certain position. But Walker is faced with the task of proving to John McGraw that he is a better man than George Kelly, Emil Meusel or Billy Southworth.

Walker, who was allowed to slip away from two American league clubs, the Athletics and Tigers, attracted attention by his hitting a few days after he bobbed up in the Giant camp early in the spring—fresh from a season with Rocky Mount in the Virginia league.

Sold Himself to Giants

He became a member of the Giants in a novel way. Under the contract he had with the Rocky Mount outfit he was privileged to dispose of his services as he saw fit at the end of the season. He looked the field over last fall and decided the Giants needed him. So he promptly took himself to New York and as Frank Walker, salesman, sold himself as a durned good ball player, to pennant winning John.

Walker had hung up a great record in the Virginia circuit. He led the league in batting with a .370 average. He whanged out thirty-three doubles, four triples and sixteen home runs. He stole fifty bases—up to the time the scorers lost count at least.

Last summer McGraw apparently solved two situations—an outfield and an infield one—by perfecting a shift at first base. To meet left and right handed pitching he alternated Long George Kelly and Short Billy Terry at first. When the latter went to first McGraw sent Kelly to the outfield. Bill Southworth, obtained from the Braves, had an off year and lacked the punch necessary in McGraw's scheme of things. Emil Meusel was in a slump. Until Hack Wilson got going good McGraw was sorely tried for outfielders.

But last fall found Wilson going great. Kelly had proved himself a good outfielder. The reliable old Ross Young was going just as good as ever. So McGraw was sitting pretty.

Then came this spring. Southworth, fighting with his back to the wall for a big league berth, appeared in fine fettle and got away to a good start. Emil Meusel, whose discontentment at Philadelphia helped send him to New York, climbed out of his slump. George Kelly was all set to continue in the outfield. And then up bobbed Walker.

Won Chance to Start

Inside of a few days it was apparent Walker would demand a place in the regular lineup. When the season opened he had won the place, temporarily at least. He was in the first series. He collected six hits in his first eight trips to the plate. As long as he goes that good, or nearly that good, he'll remain in. But sitting restlessly on the bench are Southworth, Meusel and Kelly, all itching to get their chance.

Walker will be sharing the job with Long George eventually, in all probability, unless he hits at such a thunderous clip that his removel would be suicide. Half a hold on that outfield job wouldn't be bad. But lurking on the bench still will be the aforementioned Messrs. Southworth and Meusel, ready to split the job with Mr. Kelly in the same manner.

So the odds are about three to one against Mr. Walker.

There are two things in his favor, however—his ability to batter the ball and his confidence in himself. Any player who can peddle himself to a championship club for a few cold thousands ought to be able to deliver the goods after the deal is made.

So let the fun go on.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Where is all the money coming from that is offering on Weinert's chances against Harry Wills on July 2?

Of course the bettors want odds, but they are not so radical in their demands as the comparative paper form of the two men would seem to warrant.

Is the Weinert money in existence because of the rumor that inasmuch as Harry Wills performed poorly in the Madden and Firpo bouts in order to tempt Dempsey into the ring so will he put up a mediocre exhibition against the Jersey Adonis.

Kearns is a wise bird and Dempsey is more of an Einstein than a lot of people might think. If Harry and his canny old manager, Paddy Mullins have been faking in the past two years you can gamble that Dempsey is wise.

Only by putting up the fight of his life and pasting Weinert good and proper can Wills gain the credit he needs. If he has been stalling he cannot stall any more. Public opinion in his favor can be aroused only through poular belief that Wills is so good that Jack is avoiding him.

LII—Danish Experiment

Mixed super-branny bread, with not an ounce of white flour in it, was the staff of life of the war-time Danes. But there were other features of the diet that were also important. Fats were scarce, but Hindhede has proven that where an abundance of greens are eaten fat is not essential. So they grew greens, turnip tops, kale and such like things that are quickly grown and of which an acre will supply a marvelous abundance.

Meat there was but little; some beef for the rich only, and Hindhede let them have it. Pork as the pigs were slaughtered was eaten by the farmers and not even the rich of the city could get it. But Hindhede was mainly concerned with feeding the million inhabitants in the city of Copenhagen and he didn't worry over meat for his people for there was something better and that was milk.

So the Danish diet was this super-whole grain bread, barley porridge, greens, milk, and a little butter. A diet that would sound worse than death to a prosperous glutton—as he would rather shoot himself than eat it—but the Danes ate it and lived.

But they didn't over-eat of it, though there was always enough. Such food is not so appetizing as to induce over-eating, and so the fat Danes became slender and full of health and vitality.

If there had been constipation in the state of Denmark before the war it must have disappeared as if by magic. Obesity and constipation thus were routed by order of the king, and when these two greatest enemies of human life are banished, death goes begging by many a door where he would have entered.

BASEBALL

Tell the world! The Tigers of Vernon variety won a ball game. The Ducks yesterday threw away a perfectly good victory, 5 to 4, when Jawn Hollingsworth, their pitcher, let Warner score on a wild pitch. Charlie Deal and Truck Hannah, former Vernonites, were in the Portland lineup, the veteran catcher getting a double and a single and otherwise embarrassing Bill Essick in his own home town.

At Sacramento the Solons were easy pickings for the Angels, score 7 to 2. The Seals won from Salt Lake, the only pennant race contender, 9 to 7, while Seattle nipped Ooakland 9 to 7.

WILD THROWS COSTLY

Those incorrigible Athletics were shut out by Quinn and the Red Sox for eight innings, but two wild throws by Lucey and Bagwell's pinch double won the ball game 3 to 2 in the ninth.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 24.—The eastern tours of the western clubs of the American league closed today and the westerners trek back to their own part of the country to continue their merry pastime of beating each other up.

So far, the west against west games have resulted in almost an even break, and this has been fine for Philadelphia and Washington which have been rolling up a goodly part of their percentage over the rest of the circuit by beating the Bostons and then the Yanks.

"If one of us can't streak out ahead of the others pretty soon," said Ty Cobb, speaking for the western clubs, "I'm thinking the shindy we're having will give the pennant to the east," and that, incidentally, is what most of the baseball world is thinking.

In the west-against-west games so far this season, Detroit has lost more than any other club. This was a particularly bitter pill for Ty Cobb for he was sure he could lick the west this year and was counton that to a large degree when he let his thoughts linger on pennant possibilities.

The Tigers have lost eighteen games to western rivals and won thirteen. St. Louis has won eighteen and lost sixteen. Cleveland has lost fourteen and won fifteen. Chicago has lost fourteen and won sixteen.

Two things are evident from these figures. The Detroits have got to make a harder fight than any other western club in their own part of the world if they are to get anywhere, and the St. Louis and Chicago clubs have been doing the better battling in the home territory.

Another factor of great importance is that the east is being helped by the fact that the western clubs are poking each other's eyes out, while Washington and Philadelphia are forging ahead partly because they are smarter and partly because the west is far better matched in the race than the east. That sort of thing has happened often in the National league and it is making itself felt now in the American.

On form there doesn't seem to be a chance that the western program will vary one whit when the teams get back Tuesday, and while they are hitting each other's heads off, the Washingtons and the Athletics will be making such hay as they can in the eastern half, provided New York or Boston doesn't run amuck. And on present indication, neither of them has a chance of doing that sort of thing.

Therefore it is dollars to doughnuts that the east will capture the 1925 championship and that either Philadelphia or Washington will be the fortunate club.

Cobb still says that if his pitchers would settle down he would get started and come through with a red hot finish in August. But he hasn't a pitcher now who is really stable—and none of the other western clubs can show any more in this line than Cobb. Maybe Owen Carroll, the Holy Cross phenomena, will help Cobb when he gets started. But if he doesn't, it looks like "good night west" so far as championship hopes are concerned.

Harry Greb To Train At Atlantic City Camp

NEW YORK, June 23.—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, world's middleweight champion, will complete his training at Atlantic City for his title bout with Mickey Walker July 2, it was determined today at a conference between the fighter and members of the New York State Athletic commission.

The commission also suggested to Humbert J. Fugazy, promoter of the show, that he renew his efforts to obtain the services of Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo light heavyweight for July 2. The survivor of the King Solomon-Ad Stone bout at Coney Island tonight, was mentioned as a possible opponent for Slattery.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 24.—Very quietly, but none the less effectively, plans are going forward to make New York the home of the greatest professional football team ever got together.

Hardly a graduate football star, his diploma fresh in hand has escaped the siren voice of Billy Gibson, the boxing manager and his colleagues in the enterprise of endeavoring to show the world the real reason why stalwart young men go to college.

Already enough stars of proven ability have signed or promised to sign to insure. Carney, who captained the navy eleven two years ago and is now one of the engineers in the New York subway tells the writer that Henry, the former Washington and Jefferson all-American tackle, who already has figured in pro football, will be seen in the lineup and Elmer Oliphant, who won fame in the Army backfield and Joe Alexander, of Syracuse, will also play.

It is possible that Carney himself will resume the headguard which he cast aside when he was graduated from the Naval Academy. All in all, especially in view of the fact that Robert Folwell, until recently coach at the Navy, is to coach the team, it is difficult to see what professional eleven will be able to stand against the New York Giants, or whatever name they will go by.

Professional teams while long on star footballers from various colleges, have not had the advantage of first class coaching, chiefly because mentors of any excellence have been tied up with colleges. Again their demands in the way of compensation could hardly be paid by the promoters of professional teams. Since Bob Folwell's demands are not calculated to be modest, his engagement shows how Gibson and Company are plunging on this adventure. Games will be played on Sundays at the Polo Grounds.

CALLAHAN KNOCKS LE ROY SPINNING

Main Event Ends In Third Round At Vernon, Fargo Lad Outclassed

Russie LeRoy of Fargo, N. D., lasted less than three rounds against Mushy Callahan, Los Angeles newsboy, in the main event at Vernon last night. LeRoy went down twice for a nine count in the final round before Mushy hung the Indian sign on him. Callahan used right hand jabs most of the time, and had the better of in-fighting.

In the semi-windup, Billy Petrolle, LeRoy's stablemate, won over Frankie Fink. Jack Lee copped the special event by two knockdowns, when he put Paul Duarte to the canvas in the first and again in the fifth round. Don Levy won the decision over Jackie Sherman, and Tiger Cline had an easy time winning over Jimmie Deering in the opening battle.

RETAINS HIS CROWN

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Mike Ballerino of Bayonne, N. J., is still junior lightweight champion today. He fought ten furious rounds to a draw here last night with Babe Ruth, a local featherweight. Four of the first rounds went to Ruth, according to the customers, as did the seventh, when Babe did considerable damage to the champion's face.

GRIMM SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, June 24.—Charley Grimm, first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, has been suspended for five days and fined $100, for his altercation with Umpire Wilson in yesterday's Chicago-Cincinnati game, it was announced today by John A. Heydler, president of the National league.

SPLIT TWIN BILL

The Giants and Dodgers celebrated their homecoming by splitting a doubleheader, the Dodgers winning the first 8 to 5, by socking Bentley and Huntzinger and the Giants the second by the same score. Ehrhardt had nothing but four fingers and a thumb in this game.

SENATORS WIN

Our Mr. Ruth scored the only Yankee run against the Senators but was fanned by Marberry, pinch pitcher for Ruether, who had the bases filled in the eighth. Needless to say the Senators won 8 to 1.

TWO FROM BRAVES

Finding a club they could beat, the Phillies made the most of the situation by taking two from the Braves, 7 to 3, and 9 to 7, Barnes wilting in the opener and Ryan being easy in the finale.

Move To Reroute Bus Lines Stirs Chamber

After directors had urged against the "Chamber of Commerce taking any part in movements to secure rerouting of Pacific Electric busses," the chamber deferred action on a request for rerouting of bus line No. 1 in the southwestern part of the city.

Wesley Roberts asked the endorsement of his request to have the No. 1 bus operate along Acacia street at the southerly city limits instead of along Maple street as at present. He pointed out that extension of the line several blocks south of its present limit would open up extensive new territory in that section and would induce residents to come to Glendale to trade.

The chamber directors referred the request to the transportation committee. Directors, while not taking a stand for or against the proposed change in the route of the bus, urged that the chamber take no part in such matters, declaring that unnecessary antagonism would be created through the chamber's participation.

Four sections of the main intercepting sewer system in Glendale have been completed, and the entire system, started in the spring, will have been finished within the next two months, it was announced today by City Engineer J. F. Johannsen. Resurfacing of streets has also been completed on the four sections finished.

Section nine, San Fernando road, Salem street, Chester avenue and Patterson avenue, was also finished four days ago by J. G. Donovan & Son. It extends over a distance of one and one-eighth miles and cost $11,500.

Section twelve, on Grand View, San Fernando road, Glenwood road and Virginia street, was finished by J. G. Donovan & Son at a cost of $8,790. It extends for seven-eighths of a mile. Section seven has been completed but resurfacing is still to be finished.

Many Inquiries About New Chrysler Model

Since the news leaked out from Detroit a few days ago that there is to be an addition to the Chrysler line in the near future and that the new product is to be a four cylinder car, Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co., local Chrysler dealers, 124 West Colorado street, has been literally besieged with inquiries concerning the car.

"There is nothing that I can say," declares Mr. Clark. "All that I can tell now is that the new Chrysler four will be on display here next Saturday, June 27, during the afternoon and night."

The questions that have been pouring in on Mr. Clark range all the way from whether the doors open forward or backward to the cost of the new car, but until the Chrysler four makes its debut on Saturday local motorists will be forced to be patient, but it is declared that the new creation is well worth waiting for until the end of the week.

Radio Equipment Is Cause Of Hot Clash

amphibian planes with the expedition and all navy personnel aboard the Bowdoin and Peary are ordered to return immediately to the United States.

Without the navy planes and the navy flyers, the expedition as planned by MacMillan and his associates would be helpless and should the Wilbur order stand, there is every possibility that the expedition will be called off.

Deserted On Wharf

MacMillan had left the naval wireless equipment piled up on the wharf at Wiscasset when the Bowdoin and Peary sailed.

Soon after his return from his last expedition to the Arctic, Commander MacMillan announced that in the future he would use only low wave length radio equipment. These sets are practically impervious to static, which is extremely bad near the pole. On his last expedition the MacMillan party had standard navy equipment and as a result were out of communication with the outside world for weeks at a time.

Second to MacMillan in command of the Arctic expedition is Commander E. F. McDonald, Chicago multi-millionaire, and interested in a radio corporation of Chicago. This radio company worked out the best standards for amateur manufacture of low wave length radio sets.

Commander MacMillan and Commander MacDonald regarded the low wave sets as ideal for work in the Arctic and equipped their ships and the airplanes with them.

Sends Hot Message

The navy department ordered the U. S. S. Florida's equipment sent to Wiscasset. Before the sailing of the expedition on Saturday and while the equipment was on the wharf, naval officials, by some oversight, failed to deliver to Lieutenant-Commander Byrd a sizzling message from Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, ordering him either to install the naval radio instruments in the three seaplanes or return to Washington.

Secretary Wilbur bases his strenuous objections to the low wave length radio equipment on the grounds of insecurity for the ships, planes and entire personnel, it is stated, especially the planes, in getting compass bearings.

Wilbur's final message to Byrd follows:

"Florida's spark set is being sent you at Sydney by destroyer Putnam. Planes will not make flight away from the vicinity of base ship until spark set is installed, to insure communication with planes and to give compass bearings to planes, as originally agreed upon.

"If these instructions cannot be complied with, arrange to land planes and personnel at Sydney for return to United States. Acknowledge."

The department today received a message from Commander Byrd acknowledging receipt of Wilbur's message and informing the department that the Bowdoin had not reached Sydney.

Three Men Injured In Automobile Accidents

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in two unique automobile accidents in Glendale, shortly before noon today.

B. O. Berryman, 1231 Raymond avenue, was taken to the Glendale hospital with cuts and bruises, after a car driven by R. O. Berryman overturned at Glenwood road and Western avenue when a tire blew out.

Berryman, driving west on Glenwood road, swerved to the right to avoid hitting another machine when the tire burst. The car was badly damaged.

J. A. Hunt, 2002 Western avenue, Los Angeles, and Cal H. Williams, Randsburg, Cal., were injured in a collision at Verdugo Canyon road and Wilson avenue, in which three automobiles figured. The Hunt car had collided with another unidentified machine when Williams' car crashed into them. The two men were injured in the second collision.

SHEPHERD TRIAL ARGUMENTS MADE

State Asks Extreme Penalty While Defense Seeks Release Of Man

CHICAGO, June 24.—"If you think William D. Shepherd ever met Faiman and talked to him—hang him! He had no business with Faiman and if you think he ever spoke to him, again I say, hang him."

This was the defense plea for the alleged murderer of William Nelson McClintock, made by Attorney William S. Stewart, chief of counsel, today as he paced the spot in Judge Thomas J. Lynch's courtroom on which a few minutes before the state through George E. Gorman, assistant state's attorney, had made its cry for a rope for "one of the most cold blooded murders in Chicago's history."

Stewart openly charged that Charles C. Faiman's confession in which he declared he gave Shepherd typhoid germs with which to inoculate young McClintock, was forced from him by the state which had "something on" Faiman.

School Still Open

His school—the National University of Science, which the Chicago Medical society has branded as a "diploma mill" is still open, Stewart declared, and nothing has been done by the state to prevent its operattion.

"What is the state's explanation of this?" he demanded.

"Murderer! Murderer! Murderer!"

This was the cry that rang through the courtroom today as the state piled accusation upon accusation in its final drive to bring Shepherd to the gallows for the death of his foster son.

And the defendant, lashed with searing words, every activity of his past life impugned, sat unmoved, phlegmatic, apparently hardly hearing the maze of accusation which roared about him like continuous thunder.

New L. A. Traffic Plan Aids Glendale Drivers

Glendale's motoring public, as well as other residents of the city, and of the Atwater and Griffith park communities to the south and west, are vitally interested in the action taken yesterday by the Los Angeles Board of Public works approving City Engineer Van Norman's report allocating the $5,000,000 bond issue voted for twenty-six projects representing the first unit of the comprehensive major traffic street plan.

Two projects are of particular local interest. The improvement of Riverside drive from Dayton avenue to the Los Angeles river bridge at Crescent avenue will cover a length of seven miles; proposed width, 200 feet. The Hyperion avenue project includes Fountain avenue from Hyperion avenue to Sunset boulevard; also Myra avenue from Fountain to Santa Monica boulevard; the new width, eighty feet. Surveys and maps have been completed, and assessment districts approved by the council.

Los Angeles Attorney To Replace Lamp Post

Henry J. Stevens, Los Angeles attorney, who resides on Bigden road, Pasadena, was fined $50 by Police Judge F. H. Lowe today, after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of drunkenness. Stevens also agreed to pay the cost of replacing an iron light standard at Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard at a cost of $150.

Stevens was arrested last night by Police Sergeant Lauritzen, after a heavy car he is alleged to have been driving crashed into the lamp-post. He was released on his own recognizance and his appearance was guaranteed by Mattison B. Jones of Glendale. A partially filled bottle of a "tonic" was seized by the police.

Merchants Talk On Trading In Glendale

Members of the Glendale Merchants' association discussed the trade at home movement at the regular meeting held today noon at the Masonic temple. President C. J. Hatz presided. Routine credit matters were taken up.

LIONS LISTEN TO TALK ON TRAFFIC

City Commission's Work Is Discussed At Luncheon By Local Official

"Had Los Angeles undertaken to meet its major problems when it was the size of Glendale is now, vast sums and immense trouble would have been saved its citizens," said James W. Everington, Jr., representing the traffic commission before the Lions club today. "Glendale is taking action now to get acquainted with its own needs.

"Traffic regulation in this city is proving of interest to many officials. Boulevard school stops were discussed by city representatives with Los Angeles commissions. The new traffic code for Glendale being prepared is based on that of Los Angeles and will greatly simplify the rules in force and be strictly up to date. Before presenting this code for drafting as an ordinance, it will be given scrutiny by various Glendale associations so as to get the best advice possible.

"When traffic on Brand boulevard becomes so congested, street cars cannot get along rapidly, Glendale will take steps to carry interurban traffic from the river down to our business centers, whether this takes the form of a subway or elevated. But no one need fear an elevated up Brand is being sought now.

No Political Machine

"Glendale's assurance that the traffic commission will not be converted into a political machine to run the city, is given by the personnel of that commission. They are men who have been long identified with constructive movements for the best interests of Glendale. One hears word now and then that politics is the main purpose of the commission. The constitution forbids any person or committee representing the board in definite action. Everything must be passed on by the full board.

"One-way traffic streets are detrimental to business in the view of about half those interviewed in other cities. However, no plan is under way here to install one-way traffic."

The American Legion drive for $5,000,000 to form a fund, the interest only to be used for aiding widows and orphans, was explained by Col. Everington at request of President Brock. Glendale's quota is $4,000, and one way to raise it is by a United States signal corps picture, "Over the Top," it was stated. Keading said many Legion Posts have raised their quota. Dolberg said he saw the picture in Paris soon after it was made and declared it was splendid.

Farewell Given

The Lions' roar was given for President Brock in honor of his departure for the convention tonight.

Chief of Police John D. Fraser announced he had found full cooperation from Glendale newsdealers in the war on the sale of questionable magazines in the city. He expressed appreciation of the club's attitude of help in the campaign and said the district attorney will go after the Los Angeles newsdealers who send out the magazines.

President F. M. Brock, in charge of the Lions' gathering at the Harriett Mae tea rooms at luncheon, turned over the gavel to George Keading, chairman of the program. He introduced Mrs. E. R. Ripley, accompanist, and Glenn Dolberg, soloist, who entertained with several numbers that were heartily applauded.

Dr. B. A. Walker, dentist, was extended congratulations on occasion of his birthday.

Motorist Traveling 70 Miles An Hour, Claim

Alleged to have been driving his automobile at more than seventy miles an hour over Canada boulevard, Robert E. Rosskopf, 551 York boulevard, Los Angeles, was arrested today by Sergeant J. V. Mercer, head of the traffic squad.

Rosskopf signed a ticket to appear before Police Judge F. H. Lowe Monday morning at 10 o'clock to answer to a charge of speeding. He is not required to post bail before that time. Judge Lowe instructed the police department, however, to require $250 cash bail or $500 property bond from Rosskopf when he appears. Mercer was forced to drive his motorcycle nearly eighty miles an hour before overtaking Rosskopf, he said.

REFERENDUM VOTE ON TAX IS URGED

Realtors Attack State Law On Inheritance Levy At Meeting Today

After listening to a scorching denunciation of the California inheritance tax law by Robert A. Swink, vice-president of the California Real Estate association, the Glendale Realty board voted today to draw up a resolution calling for the immediate repeal of the law through referendum vote. The realtors will act on the resolution at next week's meeting.

Declaring that the "inheritance tax law is not far removed from the practice which the law defines as robbery," Swink attacked purported arguments that are advanced in favor of the law.

"It is a tax upon capital not income," the speaker declared. "It raises a barrier against investments which are so badly needed in California. No man living in Chicago can safely invest his money in this state. California has every element needed to build a great empire on these western shores excepting capital, yet through her inheritance tax she is raising a barrier to incoming wealth. The state is effectively killing the goose that lays the California golden eggs."

Others Opposed

Swink quoted President Calvin Coolidge in support of his opposition to the tax law. He said bankers over the whole country are opposing federal and state inheritance taxes. Yesterday, he said, the result of a nation-wide vote of Chambers of Commerce was announced, showing overwhelming opposition to such laws.

Glendale realtors, including President W. L. Twining of the board, James M. Pearson, L. H. Wilson and others spoke briefly in behalf of Swink's stand.

"Glendale's industries and business enterprises have been crippled in the past by such a law," Wilson declared. "If the measure was advantageous to the state, the hardship it works on the community is of far greater import."

The resolution asking the repeal of the present inheritance law will be acted on by the realtors next Wednesday. The realtors met at the Egyptian Village cafe, President Twining presiding.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 24.—Higher prices prevailed today in nearly all good trading issues.

The advance in call money rates to 4½ per cent in the third hour produced some irregularity in the stock list, but its effect was to slow up market activity, rather than to cause any general liquidaion and weakness in stock prices. While the banks are preparing for heavy interest and dividend payments next week and remitting funds to the interior of the country and to Europe, it is logical to look for some tightening in the short-term money market. Call loans have not yet reached the March peak, and the banks can easily supply the needs of the stock market.

After early irregularity, the oil stocks and specialties, the latter including the tobacco stocks, gradually forged their way to higher price levels. Professional bears attacked the oil stocks on the theory that public demand for these stocks was negligible, and the concentrated selling would force a general decline in prices. Prices declined in the first four hours, but buying demand appeared at the lower levels and the oil stocks rebounded a point or more from the low prices of the day.

Under the lead of Pennsylvania, New York Central and Wabash, the railroad stocks displayed more activity and buoyancy than in the last week or so. It was predicted in the financial district that the earnings statements for May, to be issued in about a week, would disclose a favorable record of net earnings for that month and for the year to date.

Midweek surveys of the steel industry were encouraging as to the volume of production and new orders, though a lower scale of prices was reported for sheets, strips and bars. The frequency and urgency of orders for steel products are marked features of the steel situation. Copper prices eased off slightly as foreign demand declined; wheat sold about 2c a bushel higher and cotton made a moderate recovery.

High-priced market leaders made good gains today. Maxwell "B" sold up 5 points, at 118; Havana Electric gained 11 points, at 176; American Can was up 3; Consolidated Gas up 1½; United Cigar Stores and Tobacco Products at or near peak prices in active trading. Copper and public utility stocks were inactive, but steady, with fractional advances in a few of the outstanding issues.

The rail and motor stocks were the leaders in a moderate rally in the last hour.

Pierce-Arrow common and preferred featured the motor stock list with advances of 3 points each. Oil stocks were irregular, with Pan-American Oil staging a moderate rally near the close.

Stock sales totaled 1,009,600 shares; bonds, $10,364,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, June 24.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 4 per cent; high, 4½ per cent; low, 4 per cent. Timey money was steady. Rates were: Sixty days, 3¾@4 per cent; ninety days, 3¾@4 per cent; four months, 3¾@4 per cent; five months, 3¾@4 per. cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent. The market for prime mercantile paper was steady. Call money in London today was 3¾ per cent. Sterling exchange was steady, with business in bankers' bills at $4.85¾ for demand.

N. Y. WOOL MARKET

NEW YORK, June 24.—Market fair. Domestic fleece, XX Ohio, 48@53c; domestic pulled, scoured basis, 77c@$1.15; domestic Texas, scoured basis, $1.10@1.32; domestic territory staple, scoured basis, 85c@$1.32.

CITRUS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 24.—Thirty-one cars Valencias, one car navels and eight cars lemons sold. Valencia market lower. Lemon market doing better on 300s and larger, easier on 360s and smaller. Valencia averages ranged $3.65@9.85; lemons, $3.50@6.20.

CHICAGO STOCK

CHICAGO, June 24.—Hogs—Receipts, 15,000; market weak to 10c lower; bulk $12.60@13.50, top $13.65. Heavy weight, $13@13.65; medium weight, $12.75@13.60; light weight, $12.25@13.50; light lights, $11.50@13.25; heavy packing sows, smooth, $12@12.40; packing sows, rough, $11.50@12; pigs, $11.50@12.85.

Cattle—Receipts, 7000; market strong; calves, receipts, 2500. Beef steers: Choice and prime, $11@12; medium and good, $9@10; good and choice $10.50@12; common and medium, $7@9.50. MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Seven thousand cotton pickers will be needed in the San Joaquin valley to handle a crop estimated at not less than 80,000 bales this fall, according to labor agents here.

Lower Liverpool quotations had a depressing effect on the cotton market, but southern states need rain for a good crop, market wires report, with the thermometer in Texas and Oklahoma ranging over 100.

The board of harbor commissioners reports that May exports from Los Angeles, outside of the coastal trade, was 75 per cent to Hawaii and 25 per cent to other countries.

MUSIC CLUB GETS PRAISE OF MAYOR

Spirit Of Organizations, He Writes, Lies Behind Glendale's Growth

Voicing the sentiment of the mayor of "The Fastest Growing City in America" toward the plans of Glendale Music club to bring to Glendale next season a concert series featuring artists of national and international repute, Harry G. MacBain has written a note of commendation to Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, founder and president of the club. His note reads:

"My attention has been called to the number of wonderful artists your club has secured for this season, and I cannot allow the opportunity to pass without complimenting you and your club on your great work.

Spirit Behind Growth

"I have wondered several times of late, whether or not our city would be known as the fastest growing city, if it were not for such organizations as yours. (Personally I do not think so).

"Mrs. Jones, please allow me personally to wish you and your club a big success this year and to assure you of my co-operation."

Added support of the club's venture is seen in the resolution of endorsement passed yesterday by the Tuesday Afternoon club, at the meeting closing the club activities for the summer.

ATWATER STUDENTS WILL GET DIPLOMAS

Twenty-four Grammar School Pupils To Receive Certificates Tonight; Plan Elaborate Exercises

Twenty-four students of the Atwater grammar school will receive their certificates at graduation exercises to be held at the school tonight. Presentation of diplomas will be made by Miss Rosalind Gates, principal. Rev. John Albert Eby will make the main address. Admittance to the graduating exercises will be by invitation only as the available space in the school building is limited.

An elaborate program of music and readings will feature the graduation. There will be numbers by the school orchestra under the direction of Miss Audrey Clinton. Miss Grace Haskell will have general charge of the program. The boys' and girls' glee clubs will render several numbers, readings will be given by Adele Loyd, Geraldine Mangham will present an interpretative Chinese dance, a Russian dance will feature Marion Stadler. Noma Isted will give a piano solo.

The class history will be read by Mildred Zemke. Wilma McAlpine will give the class will. A unique class prophesy to be accompanied by illustrations, will be given by Arnoldine Larsen and Inez Moore.

Classes Close Friday

Classes at the Atwater grammar school close Friday at about noon. All children should be at the school grounds by 8 o'clock Friday morning, Miss Gates announced. Report cards will be issued and credits made out during the morning hours.

Students who starred in athletic work at the Atwater school during the year were presented with letters. Those who participated in track meets, played baseball or otherwise distinguished themselves as well as pupils who received a yearly average of 95 per cent or better in physical culture were given awards. Other school awards were distributed today.

Two Teachers To Wed

Miss Rosalind Gates, principal at the Atwater school and Miss Audrey Clinton will become June brides shortly after the close of school. Miss Clinton will be married to Maurette Clarkson Foss at St. Paul's cathedral in Los Angeles Saturday night. Miss Gates will be wed to E. Llewllyn Overholt, Los Angeles attorney, at the Wilshire Presbyterian church Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. Both teachers expect to be back at the Atwater school next fall.

Plan To Re-Open Street

Tyburn street through the Atwater district will be reopened for traffic upon completion of grading work started today by the Los Angeles city street department. The street has been virtually impassable since the sewer mains were installed several months ago and heavy rains immediately following caused bad washouts.

Masons Meet Thursday

Atwater Masons will hold an important meeting at the offices of R. M. Sanders on Glendale boulevard Thursday night when plans for a Masonic temple in the Atwater district will receive the final approval of the lodge. Location of the proposed temple will also be definitely decided upon at the meeting. Architects' drawings of the proposed building were completed today for presentation to the lodge tomorrow night.

Personals From District

Daniel Gornee and family will move to their new home at 3251 Garden avenue within a few days. They purchased the property from H. McNabb.

James H. Foote of Jackson, Mich., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lipscomb at 3410 Larga avenue.

Following his third forced vacation with foot trouble, George Daniels, well-known Atwater resident and official at the Los Angeles city hall, returned to work again yesterday.
